

RePurposed & ReImagined

April 12 – June 15, 2014

The artworks on view in ReDress: Upcycled Style by Nancy Judd and Salvage & Salvage: A Fiber Artists Coalition Exhibition were created from items that were no longer needed or wanted. The process of RePurposing involves ReImagining new or different uses for things and also is called “upcycling.”

How You Can Upcycle

Before throwing something into the trash bin, think about other possible uses. For example, Nancy Judd used junk mail folded into fan shapes to create a dress.

What are creative ways you can upcycle junk mail? Add to this list.

1. Wrap a present and make a bow.

Instead of buying something new, think about what you already have that can be upcycled.

1. Cut off old jeans to make new shorts.
