

Produced in Produce & Worked with Wire

Tom Hill Artist Residency

Tuesday – Sunday, November 5 – 10

San Francisco-based sculptor Tom Hill's memorable Birds in Art artworks feature character-filled and expressive subjects depicted in wire. During his residency, Tom works with area students to create distinct sculptures featuring produce as body-form bases and the foundation for their mixed-media artworks. Inspired by the playful and unlimited mix-and-match design potential of Mr.

Potato Head, Tom demonstrates how everyday items, even ephemeral ones, are compelling sources of inspiration ripe for incorporation into art making. See the students' produce-based creations via photographs on view following the residency. Tom also leads an interactive Art 101 program and a two-day wire-sculpting workshop for teens and adults.

Art 101

Formed, Found & Fanciful Sculpture

Artist Tom Hill describes his creative process of translating dynamic, minimal line drawings into three-dimensional wire sculptures. Learn how he takes inspiration from everyday objects and incorporates other materials into his sculpture.

November 7 Thursday 5:30 – 7 pm

Hands-on Art

All ages drop in to create distinctive collages on toned paper and inspired by Birds in Art artist Jhenna Quinn Lewis' painting, The Theft.
