Appraisals

The Leigh Yawkey Woodson Art Museum is often asked to evaluate works of art, i.e., an appraisal. An appraisal determines the monetary value of a work of art and may be desired by the owner for tax, insurance, or estate purposes. However, as a 501(c)3 non-profit organization, the Leigh Yawkey Woodson Art Museum and its staff is legally prohibited from doing so. While we cannot endorse or recommend the service of an appraiser, the following list is provided as a resource for those desiring to contact them. Many of them can do appraisals from photographs if you live out of the area. The following list of local appraisers are members of the American Society of Appraisers (ASA) www.appraisers.org, Appraisers Association of America (AAA) www.appraisersassociation.org, and/or or International Society of Appraisers (ISA).
